Dedication

The yearbook staff dedicates the 1967 publication of the WILDCAT to the graduating class. They are typical teens who have had fun no matter what they set out to do and really did enjoy school though they hated to admit it.

class will

We, David Annis and Jerry Schroeder, do will and bequeath our good looks, our ability to hustle the fairer sex, and our inclination toward the fine arts to anyone stupid enough to accept them.

We, Dennis Aslett and Dennis Lutz, do will and bequeath our ability to fumble passes and miss tackles in football to Tom Chandler in hopes that he will do better than we did.

We, Karen Aufderheide, Pat Tegan, Vicki Triplett, Louise Schmidt, and Jan Graves, do will and bequeath all underclassmen girls the ability to get to know the boys in their class before the end of their senior year like we did.

We, Donna Blakeslee, Jert Blakeslee, Betty Hawkins, Colleen Bingham, and Linda Forest, do will and bequeath our scary night, paint remover, and scrub brushes to any future painters, in hopes that they do not get caught.

I, Buenos C.H.G.P.A.N.Y.S.S. Callen, III, do will and bequeath my prized possessions; Mr. Chatburn, Mr. Moran, and my can-opener to Jeff Ward and Joe Webster in hopes that they will handle them as well as I did.

I, Paula Christie, do will and bequeath all the fun I've had in High School to my sister, Connie; and to next year's FHA President all the worry and trouble and fun I have had.

I, Peggy Cox, do will and bequeath all the fun I've had in Twin and Filer High to all who think they can take it.

I, Russell Denton, do will and bequeath my motorcycle to the younger generation in hopes that I can get a car.

We, Ed DeVall and Tom Ramsey, do will and bequeath our great hunting experience as Whitey the great white hunters and our eagle eye ability to shoot to Carl Pitts and Guy Ramsey.

I, Junior Elliott, do will and bequeath my ability to get along with Mr. Moran to anyone who needs it.

I, Robert Brooks Graves, do will and bequeath my weights to any underclassman that will lift them diligently and my wrestling togs to any tall skinny Jose.

I, Mike Hadley, do will and bequeath the witch in the mountains to Clark Kauffman and Mark Theener in hopes one of them will get stuck with her on our next hunting trip.

I, Louis Hansen, do will and bequeath my government book and Mr. Moran to any Jr. Girl.

I, Gene Hartwig, do will and bequeath the position of manager to any student who has nerve enough to tell the coaches and players that you're out of tape or cold packs and who doesn't mind picking up a few towels.

I, Tim Horst, do will and bequeath my ability to beat Mr. Glassinger in Chess to anyone who wants to flunk Physics.

I, Keith LaVon Hulse, do will and bequeath my desks in the different classes to any underclassmen that will fill them like I did.

I, Gary Ihler, do will and bequeath all the fun I've had in Ag, to Evertt Messner and Wayne Hoag.

I, Eileen Ingram, do will and bequeath my ability to write notes in class and get caught by the teacher to Patty Sheridan in hopes she doesn't get caught more than I did.

I, Douglas Jones, do will and bequeath my ability to take only four classes my senior year and sleep in all of them to anyone who wants to flunk.

I, Paul Knefel, do will and bequeath my great charm and all of my pop can rings to the last of the Theener clan and all involved in times of wildness.

I, Chuck Kreigh, do will and bequeath my ability to go with girls from other schools to anyone with enough money to by the gas.

I, Rick Kruse, do will and bequeath my superior intelligence to anyone who thinks he can use it.

I, Faye Lancaster, do will and bequeath my ability to sleep with my eyes open to Patty Sheridian, Carla Blastock, Susan Rork, and my brother, Gordon, because they will need it in Government class.

I, Kathie Lancaster, do will and bequeath my Physics book and my Biology II book to anyone foolish enough to want them.

I, Bob Lanting, do will and bequeath my coffee hour in study hall to anyone who can stand it along with the smell of formaldehyde.

I, Eileen Lanting, do will and bequeath Margueret Graves my natural blond hair in hopes she can prove the theory that blondes have more fun.

I, Gloria Lassen, do will and bequeath all of the fun and great times at H.C. to any girl who wants a week full of wonderful memories.

I, Irvin Lauritsen, do will and bequeath my bronze plated bottle opener to anybody who wants a bronze plated bottle opener.

I, John Malone, do will and bequeath my seat in Government to Rich Pedrow in hopes that he likes it.

I, John Meyer, do will and bequeath my seat in the back of the row directly in front of Mr. Moran's desk to anyone who wants to get caught sleeping.

I, Cecil Nice, do will and bequeath my ability to play with legs in Eng., Govt., and Physics class to any male or female who is fast enough to get away with it.

I, Gerald Orthel, do will and bequeath to my brother, "TINY", the tires and football sleds in hopes he will have as much fun with them as I did.

I, Glen Page, do will and bequeath my ability to play football to Mike C., Robert B., Kelly and Dallas, in hopes that they warm the bench as good as I did.

I, Bev Park, do will and bequeath my old "Bomb" to Vicki Cobb in hopes she can have as trying to go places as I did.

I, Kathy Patterson, do will and bequeath my ability to play the flute, such as it is to Madeline Kelly in hopes that she may improve.

I, Martha Schlange, do will and bequeath a can of Right Guard to the Jr. boy who sat behind me in bookkeeping.

We, Mark Schroeder and Dennis Brown, do will and bequeath to J.B. and D.B. or any other girl the ability to play around.

I, Connie Stroud, do will and bequeath all the fun and advice I have had to my friend, Peggy, and to future senior girls.

I, Wally Taylor, do will and bequeath all of my favorite parking spots to Greg Storrs in hopes he uses them to his best advantage.

I, Gerry Theener, do will and bequeath my ability to throw some good parties to Barney Galvin, Jeff Ward, and Glen Humphries.

I, Terry Theener, do will and bequeath my ability to get kicked out of school and get back in to Jeff Ward, Joe Webster, for they will need it.

We, Penny Ward, Sally Jones, and Betty Greene, do will and bequeath our 5th period study hall to anyone who can talk Mr. Chatburn into having a study hall without a teacher in hopes that they will have as much fun as we did.

I, Cheryl Webster, do will and bequeath my intelligent brain to Joanna D., my good looks to Mary Beth, and my legs to Kristina H., in hopes that they do more for them than they did for me.

I, Linda Wright, do will and bequeath all my knowledge of the trumpet to Robert B., in hopes that he will get higher up than I did.

I, Ronnie Wyatt, do will and bequeath my secluded parking spot to anyone crazy enough to drive that far.

class prophecy

As an entertainer I do a great deal of traveling around the country. It was a great year for me, I mean 1984 and I happened to be on one of my tours.

In one of my spare moments I took an education tour through the Sego milk factory and who did I see working side by side but John Meyer and Sally Jones. They were doing an experiment in the field of plastics. I almost was wiped out by a milk can on the way out thrown by my old buddy Brooks Graves.

The time was growing short and I made it just in time for my show at the swanky Arctic Circle Night-club. Who do you think was in the chorus line? Right! Eileen Lanting, Colleen Bingham, and Faye Lancaster. They had all graduated from Dennis Aslett and Gloria Lassen's school of progressive dancing. I spied in the Band such notables as Eileen Ingram, Glen Page, and Jeri Blakeslee.

The show was over, so I went over to the bar and saw Terry Theener minding the store and Buenos Callen making hot tamales. I chatted with them for awhile and found out that Mark Schroeder and Gerald Orthel were the co-owners of the club and were doing quite well.

I left Twin Falls the next morning and flew back to Beverly Hills. I made a short stop at the Montgomery Ward Store and found Chuck Kriegh, the floor walker, who showed me through the store. Gary Ihler, Irvin Lauritsen, Larry Spaur, and Keith Hulse were all salesmen in the Ladies Department! I saw a few of my other classmates, too. Louis Hansen, Bob Lanting, and Paul Knefel were all in the lost and found department.

On I went to the gas station for some gas. Who do you think owned it? Karen Aufderheide and Mike Hadley were the grease monkeys and Gene Hartwig the window washer.

I stopped at the hospital on the way back to see my old friend Doctor Russell Denton and Doctor Cecil Nice. The in-mates of the hospital were familiar to me also. Dennis Brown, Louise Schmidt, Pat Tegan, and Vicki Triplett were flat on their backs due to a small collision at the corner of 5th and Union. They were well taken care of by three eminent Filer nurses--Kathie Patterson, Tim Horst, and Ron Maughn. Tom Ramsey and Ron Thaemert were there for a slight appendectomy.

On my way I also stopped at U.C.L.A. where some of the professors were acquaintances of mine, namely Wally Taylor, Dennis Lutz, Barry Gines, Gerry Theener, and Penny Ward. Some of the ten year scholars were famous Filerites too. Bev Park, Ed DeVall, Jan Graves, and of course, Cheryl Webster.

Back at home, I watched as Donna Blakeslee, and Linda Wright sold me an Electrolux vacuum cleaner, and I was aghast to see Larry Wolfe and Betty Hawkins married and pushing jello.

The daily soap-box opera was on and Linda Forrest and David Annis were having their daily feud on channel 4. I switched to channel 6 just in time for "Doug Jones and the CBS news". I saw that Jerry Schroeder and Paula Christie were competing in the 100 yard dash at the Boise Olympics. I was thrilled. I also noticed that Connie Stroud and Martha Achlange were competing in the women's cross country race.

I picked up my favorite magazine to see who was running for offices. Ron Wyatt for Governor was plastered on the front page and Bob Webster for Governor plastered on the back page. Kathie Lancaster and Peggy Cox were in the middle. I saw that Billy Rutherford was the editor and John Malone the co-editor.

After seeing all my friends, I was content but tired, so good-night class of '67" and may all this never happen.

Appreciation

Many thanks must be said to the people who helped make this yearbook possible. To Mr. Kious, our capable sponsor who always had helpful suggestions - Mr. Pettygrove, who's hair probably greyed a little before he was through with our pictures - the faculty for all their cooperation - Bob Graves - and finally to the many Magic Valley merchants who helped make this yearbook possible through their advertisements.

We, the Wildcat Staff, bring this yearbook to you in hopes that these memories will not be dimmed nor fade away, and in later years, while turning these pages, you will recall the many smiles, sorrows, and dreams of '67. Then we shall be content, knowing that we have done the thing we were called upon to do.
